About the Artist and Gossamer Glass Studios

Inspiration Farm, located in Bellingham Washington, is the home of Gossamer Glass Studios. Brian Kerkvliet and his wife Alexandra founded Inspiration Farm in 1995 as a place to explore the creative potential of glass and other mediums. By hosting workshops and visiting artists, many facets of glass and creativity are practiced.

Brian started working with glass at the age of 13, and has continued to push the his creative limits with glass. Many of his design concepts are inspired by ancient glass and their role in society. Brian has studied and taught at many of the best glass schools including Pilchuck Glass School and Penland School of Arts and Craft.

The work he makes today is in tribute to the masters that have gone before. Brian and Gossamer Glass Studios are glad to offer you this distinctly exciting line, melding the old and the new just for you!
